Subject: European Directive 2011/65/UE (RoHS II) and Amendment 2015/863/EU.

Dear Customer,

the European Directive 2011/65/UE, also called RoHS, restricts and controls the use of harmful, poisonous and /or cancer-producing substances in the production of electrical and electronic components. The hazardous substances object of this directive are: lead, cadmium, chromium VI, mercury, poly-brominated biphenyls, poly-brominated biphenyls ethers and phthalates.

With respect to what above, we hereby state that all components and raw materials used by Korner in the production of its terminal blocks and connectors comply to the above mentioned directive.

In particular:

- the plastics of the insulation bodies do not contain the substances above mentioned;
- the brass of the inserts is an alloy of copper, zinc and lead and, therefore, contains a maximum percentage of 2-3% that respects the maximum value of 4% foreseen by point 6c of the attachment III (exemptions);
- screws in steel have a special superficial treatment of white zinc plating that is completely free of the above mentioned substances;
- other metallic components such as, nuts, platelets and washers are, they too, free of the regulated substances; if in yellow colour they have a zinc plating superficial treatment with passivation that contains chromium VI in quantity below 0,1% as allowed by the directive.

Products that are commercialized but not produced by Korner Srl (terminals, cable ties, self extinguishing tapes) comply to the directive mentioned in the subject of this declaration.

Kind regards,

Cusago, June 20th 2016
